FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Legal Proceedings in US District Court in California

A former contractor who worked in events and communications with the team leading up to the ICO and then as a Fellow following the retreat, has filed a lawsuit in California. In the suit, he is asserting that Holo should have renewed his contract and that he "owns" the Holochain trademark and other associated marks.

The lawsuit is baseless. The facts are wrong and the legal analysis is flawed. It is a transparent attempt to cash in on the success of Holochain and Holo.

We will be responding in court to protect Holo and the Holochain community. We expect that the court will quickly dismiss the suit. In the meantime, we will be continuing with all of our current plans and efforts. We don't expect this lawsuit to change anything.
